President Puts Finishing Touch on Document to Be Cabled at Once

Brief, But Emphatic, Is Query Concerning Lusitania

WASHINGTON, June 3.—President Wilson was putting the finishing touch today on his latest note to Germany, concerning the sinking of the Lusitania. It already had been approved in principle by the cabinet.

All that was needed today to start the communication on its way to Berlin was the making of minor changes in phraseology. This was the task before the President, who was expected to complete the work of revision during the day. The note will then be sent to the state department for transmission by cable, probably tonight or tomorrow, to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, who will in turn present it to the German foreign office.

Previous reports that the note will be brief and emphatic are borne out, it is said, by the text as it now stands. President Wilson returned to the White House toward noon after a brief outing and gave his attention to putting the note into final form.

Officials generally, therefore, did not know exactly how emphatic its terms would be, the general impression in executive quarters was that it was phrased in such a way as to admit only of an affirmative or negative answer to the query of the United States as to Germany's intention to exercise the right of visit and search when encountering unarmed merchantmen on the high seas.

Secretary Bryan would only say that when the note goes forward to Berlin the fact will be made public. When the note itself would be published, he said he did not know.

Stampede of Cattle Aids Italian Attack

ROME, June 4, via Paris, June 3.—Fifty wild cattle materially aided Italian troops in capturing a strong Austrian position on Monte Corda, according to the Corriere d'Italia. The Austrian garrison had surrounded itself with a high barbed wire entanglement against which the Italians drove the cattle. Started by exploding bombs, the animals attacked the entanglements with horns and hooves and in a quarter of an hour had swept away the obstacle so that the Italians were able to gain the summit easily. The charge of the cattle for which no previous military experience had prepared them, it is said to have stampeded the Austrians.

The police assert that two men and a woman are being held in Denver in connection with the syndicate and one man in Philadelphia.

In the pockets of the men arrested here, the police say, they found racing forms and tickets, rolls of imitation money and newspaper clippings telling of enormous winnings on race tracks. It is asserted the band has maintained headquarters in Excelsior Springs, Mo., with connections in the larger cities.

The arrests were made on complaint of J. W. Klinkerman of Los Angeles, Colo., who asserts he lost $3,000.

The basis of this accusation is found in a political suit brought against Viscount Oura by the manager of the Conservative party. The matter is to be discussed Monday.

PEACE MAY REIGN IN REPUBLIC

Carranza and Villa Both Intimate Willingness to Stop Strife

United States Feeds 20,000 Starving Persons; Needs More Food

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Unofficial advice received here from Vera Cruz saying that General Carranza would reply favorably to President Wilson's statement, calling on the heads of the warring factions in Mexico to restore peace, gave renewed hope to administration officials today of ultimate solution of the problem.

General Carranza is the first to be heard from directly concerning the President's warning. Officials have heard indirectly from General Villa through his representative that he was favorable to the President's proposal.

General Carranza's reply, it was said, was being prepared by Jesus Gullon, Constitutional foreign minister, and would be delivered to John B. Sullivan, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, probably by Monday. The reply, the advice said, would be "appreciative, friendly and serene."

More than 20,000 hungry Mexicans already have been fed at Monterey from supplies arriving from the United States. More than 700 starving people were supplied with corn yesterday alone at the American hospital.

Generals Davila, Zertuche and Santos have expressed through Consul General Hannah thanks to President Wilson for the aid and assistance.

The consul-general made an other appeal today for corn, beans and rice, "to save the lives of the people most of whom are not responsible for the most awful conditions."

CARRANZA THINKS U. S. NOTE FRIENDLY

VERA CRUZ, June 3.—"Appreciative, friendly and serene," such will be the tone of General Carranza's reply to President Wilson's note, after carefully considering the note, General Carranza concluded that it contains nothing other than hopefulness for the "constitutional cause," and it was officially announced that his reply to President Wilson would be handed to John B. Sullivan, personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico, for transmission to Washington within the next few days, probably on Monday or Tuesday.

As the note has been read more and more by Carranza officials and members of his cabinet, it has created a feeling that President Wilson intended no harsh action toward Mexico.

That General Carranza intends to reply to President Wilson's note with a similar note of foreign relations, such will be the tone of the reply, it was said.

As it was at first felt that the warning did not invite a reply. However, when Mr. Sullivan called at the high house it was informed that a reply was being formulated by the Constitutional foreign minister. It was stated that the tone of the reply would be appreciative, friendly and serene.

ZEPPELINS ENGAGED IN NEW RAID

Assault on Coast Towns Told in Official Report

MORE VESSELS SUNK

Attacks by Submarines Continued With Added Energy

LONDON, June 3.—Hostile airships dropped bombs on the east and south-east coasts of England last night.

Little damage was done and the casualties apparently were few.

The bombs were thrown down at a number of different places, which have not as yet been enumerated.

This information is contained in an official statement given out here today.

This air raid, coupled with the usual week-end activity of German submarines, are the war developments of the last 12 hours which are today holding public attention. Little is known as yet of the extent of the aerial attack, but it does not seem to have done much damage or been costly in lives.

German submarines have been unusually busy during the last few days in the North Sea and in the Bristol Channel. Ten vessels have been attacked in the last three days without loss of life, except in the case of the trawler Victoria, four members of the crew of this boat and a boy passenger having fallen victims to shells fired from the attacking submarines.

The biggest capture of the Germans was the 5000-ton Liverpool steamer Inkom. Another important victim was the Afrin liner Ioano, erroneously reported at first as the Wilson liner of the same name. The latter ship, sent to the bottom by the Germans include in addition to several trawlers four neutral ships, two Danish, one Norwegian and one Swedish.

AUSTRIANS AT TUMBLA

The Austro-German forces have pushed their salient as far as Tumbala, which is some distance northeast of Przemysl. Notwithstanding the evacuation of this fortress, the Russians have maintained an unbroken fighting front on both sides of the railway to Lemberg. Thus far the Austrians and Germans apparently have made little progress since the taking of Przemysl, although Austrian official reports state that the Russians have been driven east to the vicinity of Medyka.

British and French reports indicate hard fighting on the western front without much progress for either side. The Belgian frontier has again been closed to traffic. This tends to confirm reports that the Germans are rapidly moving heavy reinforcements to their positions along the Yser canal.

LONDON, June 3.—The steam trawler Ena May of Peterhead, the trawler Strathairn and the sailing ship George and Mary all have been sent to the bottom by German submarines. The crews of all three ships were saved.

KAISER WANTS FACTS ABOUT U. S. SHIP

German Foreign Office Is Undecided About Destruction of Cushing.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Germany, in the note cabled to the state department by Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, expresses regret that through "an unfortunate accident" a German submarine had torpedoed the American steamship Gulfight and declared itself ready to furnish full compensation for the damage thereby sustained by American citizens.

In the same communication the German foreign office said it had not been possible to clear up any of the details of the American steamer, Cushing, reported attacked by a German submarine, and asked that the United States communicate the information in its possession concerning this incident.

Blame for the attack on the Gulfight was placed by the foreign office upon the proximity of two British patrol boats and the absence from the steamer's freeboard of the distinctive markings usually carried by neutral ships in the war zone. "That the attacked steamer carried the American flag," the note added, "was first observed at the moment of firing the shot."

REGRETS EXPRESSED.

The Gulfight was torpedoed in the English channel five weeks ago while bound from Port Arthur, Tex., for Rouen, France, with oil. She was towed to Crow's Sound and beached for repairs. Two seamen were drowned, when the crew took to the boats immediately after the attack, and the captain died of heart trouble the next day.

The expression of regrets and offer of reparation in the note follows the principle outlined by the German government, disclaiming any intention of attacking neutral vessels carrying contraband cargoes.

"Reference of May 28, the undersigned has the honor to inform his excellency, the ambassador of the United States of America, Mr. James W. Gerard, that the examination undertaken on the part of the German government, concerning the American steamers Gulfight and Cushing has led to the following conclusions:

"In regard to the attack on the steamer Cushing, the commander of a German submarine saw on the afternoon of May 1, in the vicinity of the Solly Islands, a large merchant steamer coming in his direction which was accompanied by two smaller vessels. These latter took such position in relation to the steamer that they formed a regulation safeguard against submarines; moreover, one of them had a wireless apparatus, which is not usual with small vessels.

"From this it evidently was a case of English convoy vessels. Since such vessels are regularly armed, the submarine could not approach the steamer without running the danger of destruction. It was, on the other hand, to be assumed that the steamer was of considerable value to the German government since it was so guarded. The commander could see no neutral markings on it of any kind; that is, distinctive marks painted on the freeboard recognizable at a distance, such as are now usual on neutral ships in the English zone of naval warfare.

"In consequence, he arrived at the conclusion from all the circumstances that he had to deal with an English steamer, submerged and attacked. The torpedo came in the immediate neighborhood of one of the convoy ships, which at once rapidly approached the point of firing, so that the submarine was forced to go to a great depth to avoid being rammed; the conclusion of the commander that an English convoy ship was concerned in the attack was thus confirmed.

FLAG OBSERVED TOO LATE.

"That the attacked steamer carried the American flag was first observed at the moment of firing the shot. The fact that the steamer was pursuing a course which led neither to nor from America was a further reason why it did not occur to the commander of the submarine that he was dealing with an American ship.

"Upon scrutiny of the time and place of the occurrence described, the German government has become convinced that the attacked steamer was actually the steamship Gulfight. There can be no doubt, according to the attendant circumstances, that the attack is to be attributed to an unfortunate accident, and not to the fault of the commander.

"The German government expresses its regret to the government of the United States concerning this incident and declares itself ready to furnish full compensation for the damage thereby sustained by American citizens. It is left to the discretion of the American government to present a statement of this damage, or, if doubts may arise over individual points, to designate an expert who would have to determine the amount of the damage.

CASE OF CUSHING IN DOUBT.

"It has not yet been possible by means of an inquiry to clear up fully the case of the American ship Cushing. Official reports available report only one merchant steamer attacked by a German flying machine in the vicinity of Nordland lights. The German aviator was forced to carry the vessel as hostile, because it carried no flag, and further, because of no recognizable neutral markings. The attack of four bombs was, of course, not aimed at any American ship. However, that the ship attacked was the American steamer Cushing is possible, considering the time and place of the occurrence, nevertheless the German government accordingly requests of the American government that it communicate to the German government the material which was submitted for judgment, in order that with this as a basis a further position can be taken in the matter.

"The undersigned, therefore, is in

War Summary

German airships again crossed the North Sea last night and dropped bombs on the east and southwest coasts of England. While the coast has permitted no details to be cabled it is reported from London that little damage was done and apparently the casualties were not numerous.

Five more British vessels have been sunk by German submarines. No loss of life resulted. The crews of two trawlers were permitted to embark on a third, which was spared by the Germans.

Preparations for a new German assault on the western front are reported to be under way. It is believed in London that following the fall of Przemyśl the Germans may undertake a serious offensive move in France or Belgium. Along the western end of the line north of Arras reinforcements have been brought up by the Germans. The allies have been driven from some positions gained in the recent fighting.

In Galicia heavy fighting continues all along the front. From Vienna reports it would appear that the Austro-German armies were still struggling with the Russians. The Petrograd war office, however, advanced claims of success in several engagements and apparently the Russians have been able to maintain their front to the east of Przemyśl.

MUST SHOOT MEN WHO SURRENDER

Order Found by Germans on a Captured Canadian Colonel Urges Penalty.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 4, by wireless to Sarville, among the items given out for publication by the Overseas News Agency are the following:

"In Vienna and Budapest there is great jubilation over the fall of Przemyśl. All the newspaper correspondents and the official press are reporting that the situation is most promising.

"Colonel Turner, commanding the Third Canadian Infantry Brigade, has been captured. Among the papers found on him was a division order mentioning that several men had been observed to surrender without being shot by the officers and men, whose first duty was to shoot every man trying to surrender. If the surrendering body was large enough, artillery fire should be directed at it, the order said.

"Relief committees report that there are over 100,000 Jews (in Poland) who are without shelter and suffering from lack of food and medical attendance. The relief committees request for their work a minimum of 1,000,000 rubles ($500,000).

"The first serious attack by Italy's best troops near Foligno and L'Aquila was easily repulsed by the Austrians."

RUSSIANS MAKE LIGHT OF LOSS

Taking of Przemyśl Called a Moral, But Not Strategic Victory.

By Associated Press.

PETROGRAD, June 4.—The news of the fall of Przemyśl apparently has awakened no apprehension here. It is conceded that the Germans have won a "moral victory," but the strategic importance of the fortress across the opinion expressed here had been nullified before the Russians relinquished it.

A leading Russian military expert, analyzing the situation, says: "Having crossed the San with two armies, which were to begin operations against the fortress, the Germans found themselves in an extremely dangerous and unstable position; being attacked on their left flank, they were compelled to shorten the strip of ground they occupied on the east of the San. Any reverse of these armies would have turned the German movement into a catastrophe, and it is to be assumed that the pressure of the Russian army from Simbirsk and the capture of the fortress would have forced the Germans to hurl their attack against the fortress, throwing forward enormous forces.

"The indefensibility of the fortress was due to the fact that the Austrians had blown up the most important forts upon their evacuation of Przemyśl, leaving with the configuration of the land. This was unsuitable to a stubborn defense for the reason that its undulations made it possible for the enemy to hide his approaches.

The primary idea in the construction of the Przemyśl fortress was to meet attack from the eastward. There had not been sufficient time to reconstruct the damaged fortress on the west and on the north and to adapt the position to defense against attacks from these directions.

"Russian long range guns," the expert says, "shooting to the last shell into the thick masses of advancing Austro-Germans, caused them severe losses. Eventually, however, the Russian military authorities reached a decision to remove the fortress from the front line."

"Strategic conclusions," the expert concludes, "led to this same decision, since the Russian Przemyśl army constituted a sharp wedge cutting into the German lines and was to be attacked from every side. To defend this crescent-shaped front required tremendous forces, and it was clearly the desire of the Germans that numerous forces be diverted to this front for defensive purposes."

OLD MAN 74, SHOOT FRIEND OF FAMILY, 22

AUBURN, June 5.—Leo Schumann, aged 74, was shot and killed last night by T. E. Carter, aged 22. The shooting occurred at the Cranford mine, near here, and there were no witnesses. Carter gave himself up. There was blood between the men, and two weeks ago Schumann struck Carter over the head with a club.

Power marks on Schumann's face and the marks on the club, indicate that there was a struggle. Marks on Schumann's fingers indicate that he had his hand in Carter's mouth.

All indications point to Schumann as the aggressor, as it is his hand that he had made thrust against the old man, who is known to be a peaceful, quiet citizen.

Schumann lived with his uncle, Dr. Schumann, who was very friendly with Carter.

BRITISH NAVAL EXPERT SUGGESTS U. S. FIGHT

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 5, 2:55 a. m.—The Morning Post's naval correspondent in an article today discusses the situation existing between the old man and Germany as a result of Germany's submarine warfare.

"The action of the Germans in sinking merchant vessels without having previously sent a boarding officer on them," says the correspondent, "is undoubtedly contrary to the law of nations. The issue between Germany and America, therefore, is reduced to the simple question whether neutral nations will permit the use of force as Germany's to pass without appealing to the arbitration of war."

"In this respect, the United States has in its keeping the present and future right of neutrals, for America is far the most powerful among the neutral nations, almost all of which are suffering under the same wanton wrongs. The action of America in the present situation must inevitably establish a far-reaching precedent."

TWO MORE CRAFT ARE TORPEDOED

Submarines Sink Iona, Bound for Montreal, and Inkum, Just From U. S.

By Associated Press.

MONTEBELL, June 5.—The Thomson, Iona, for Montreal, and Inkum, from New York, were torpedoed and sunk off the north coast of England at dusk yesterday, according to a report received by agents of the line here today. The captain and crew were landed at Kirkwall, Scotland.

STEAMER IS SUNK.

FALMOUTH, June 5.—The British steamer Inkum, from New York to London, was torpedoed at 4:30 o'clock this morning, forty-three miles southwest of Lizard Head. The crew was landed here by the Norwegian steamer Wenda.

No submarine had been observed when a terrific explosion shook the vessel, which began to settle. The crew took to the boats, but the steamer settled so low that some of them returned to the ship, hoping that they might save her. They noticed, however, the periscope of a submarine, which discharged a second torpedo, completing the work of destruction.

The Inkum left New York on May 22 for London. She was 307½ feet long and of 3074 tons net. She was built at Glasgow in 1901 and was owned by the Gulf Transport Line of Liverpool.

CREW IS LANDED.

LOWESTOFT, England, June 5.—The crew of a Lowestoft trawler were landed here today. They say that their vessel was stopped in the North Sea Thursday evening by a German submarine. The crew was forced to the boats after which the trawler was sunk by a bomb.

LONDON, June 5.—The American tank steamer Llama, from New York for Copenhagen, with a cargo of gasoline and oil, and the Norwegian steamer Einar Jarl, bound from Port Arthur, New Orleans and Norfolk, were torpedoed off the coast of Denmark, with a cargo of cottonseed oil, late yesterday.

TERRIBLE DEATH TOLL AT SOUCHEZ

One Regiment Says It Buried 3000 Germans in Three Weeks.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, June 5.—The capture by the French of the sugar refinery near Souchez is described in a report given out today by the official "eye-witness" at the front. This is what it says:

"Violent attacks on the part of the French from both west and the south were met by a fire of the German batteries and machine guns located on the north side of the refinery. The Germans resisted for some time, but finally were driven back by the artillery fire of the French and withdrew."

"The basement of the factory was found to be filled with German dead, while the French losses were slight. The French made a desperate attempt to regain it. Amid destroyed walls and great holes in the ground made by shelling, the German bodies began their attack at midnight."

In this rapid and confused engagement the French were obliged to withdraw, but a watchful French major prepared rapidly for a counter attack. The French company, which had momentarily withdrawn, later pushed forward, aided by reinforcements and an intense artillery fire, under which the Germans feared their retreat would be cut off.

"When the French counter attack had attained the refinery itself it was found that the Germans already had withdrawn and the position was promptly organized by the French. During this work a non-commissioned officer remained for eight hours in the ruins of the refinery, and after he had received a splinter of a shell in his thigh."

"In a period of three weeks 3000 Germans have been buried and more than 3000 have been taken prisoner by the same French regiment."

SON OF GRAND DUKE FALLS LEADING TROOPS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 5.—"During the recent fighting in Galicia," says the Morning Post's correspondent, "Prince Bagrat Mouchiransky, who a couple of years ago married the Princess Tatiana, eldest daughter of Grand Duke Constantin, fell off the head of his squadron of the Cavalier Guards. This was the Grand Duke's second bereavement, his fourth son, Prince Olga, having been killed in the Niemen in October."

The correspondent describes the new German method of using smoke clouds in their fighting on the Baura-Bowka sector on Sunday evening, the correspondent says, "the Germans along a twenty-mile front piled up the effective use of their trenches and machine guns, throwing into the Russian lines. These emitted dense, poisonous fumes."

NO U. S. WARNING TO LEAVE BERLIN

Washington Denies Report That Instructions Were Given Gerard.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—A high official of the State Department today has given out the following statement: "The American government has been given Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to wait the American embassy there to be ready to leave on account of possible severance of diplomatic relations between Germany and the United States."

The report that there had been official warning to the American embassy of a prospective severance of diplomatic relations was believed to be due to the fact that the American Embassy and consulates have recently been gathering the list of Americans residing in Germany.

Recently there was published here a report to the effect that Americans in Germany were being warned to leave on account of a possible severance of diplomatic relations. This met with prompt denial, however, in high official quarters. It is believed to be not only untrue, but in connection with the reports from the United States concerning a possible severance of diplomatic relations, many Americans have naturally made inquiries at their consulates and embassies, but it is not believed that Ambassador Gerard has received any instructions outlining the future course of the American government.

ASKS FOR DETAILS.

BERLIN, via London, June 5.—James W. Gerard, the American Ambassador, called at his office yesterday and requested information concerning the torpedoing of the American steamer Nebraska off the southern coast of Ireland last month. He was informed that the German government had received no report of the incident.

While no official announcement has been made concerning the nature of the explosion, which damaged the steamer Nebraska, the captain and the members of the crew when they arrived in Liverpool expressed the opinion that the vessel had been torpedoed. An examination of the Nebraska was made recently at Wickham where the steamer was docked after the explosion.

New Missionaries Attend Conference

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Fifty young men and women, who have been appointed by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions as missionaries to the fields of China, were attending conferences with that board.

Ordinarily, the Presbyterian board sends out one hundred new missionaries each year, but the number was reduced this year, owing to the war. Eighteen of the volunteers were rejected, owing to lack of funds.

INVESTMENT CO. BEFORE FEDERAL COURT

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—Howard S. Tracy, corresponding secretary of the Los Angeles Investment Company under the name of Charles A. Elder, was again a witness yesterday afternoon in the trial of Elder and ten former officials on federal indictments charging use of the mails to defraud.

Tracy's attention was called to a letter he had written in 1910 to Howard Minter, a partner in the company, in which he stated that the company had issued a financial statement giving its undivided profits as $122,000, but notwithstanding the company, six weeks later, declared a dividend amounting to about $25,000.

In reply, Tracy stated that the company's undivided profits and surplus amounted to $100,000. Asked how he arrived at that figure, Tracy said he based it upon claims made in the official publication of the company, which at that time had included among the company assets the 300-acre Bawwin ranch, which recently was sold under foreclosure.

It was also brought out today that employees of the company under Elder were expected to invest 10 per cent of their salaries in stock, and that in hiring employees, preference was given to investors.

MORTGAGEE GETS BENEFIT OF RISE, SAYS COURT

Holders of mortgages are entitled to receive the full benefit of an increase of value in event that the mortgage is foreclosed, according to a decision of Superior Judge Waste. The case is that of Mrs. George C. Nichols against J. Burgett, in which the latter was sued for excess value over a mortgage he held.

Burgett, formerly a laborer in Golden Gate Park, loaned Mrs. Nichols some money on a promissory note in 1897. The court decided in favor of the mortgagee, and the note was voided. The Meddler

On Wednesday the singer of the day was Madame Angeli Foret of London, Paris and New York, who sang wonderful old Breton songs for the first part of her program, and in these she wore the costume of a Breton peasant woman.

The second part of the program consisted of old English songs, and while she sang these Madame Foret wore an early Victorian costume.

After the program the guests enjoyed delightful walks through the nothing more surely indicates the dawn of better days than the good work of the smart set of our own day and generation. The promise for progress is abroad in the land, and no circle of the world's workers is doing more to promote the happiness of others today than the once-railroaded-at smart set.

Women of the exclusive smart set are giving, not only of their time and money, but of their own strong personality, and through woman's influence, in a large part, an impetus is being given to that progress for which the world has waited long. And much of the good work shines out against the gloomy background of war.

Among the leaders in the philanthropic advance of the day is Miss Anne Morgan, the youngest daughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan. She seeks her happiness in bringing the beautiful in life to her fellow women.

A well-known writer tells the story of the new camp:

"Through her keen insight, gained largely by fraternizing with these girls, she realizes that it is not charity or philanthropy that they require to make them happier, but opportunity—the opportunity to make their lives broader, bigger and better. She has given to them this opportunity in the vacation fund, whereby the pennies, which might be spent for trifles, can be safely deposited until those two precious weeks in the summer when they can forget the clicking of the typewriter, the ring of the telephone, and the routine of the office, in the great outdoors.

"Today she is offering to them the greatest opportunity of all, for she is making it possible for them to live a wholesome, healthy, care-free, joyful life during the vacation days, far from the restraint of the city, in one of Nature's choicest spots. Camp Inkawa will be struck in June on Greenwood lake, right in the heart of the Ramapo hills, on land loaned by Mrs. Edward H. Harriman. Here the 'girls'—about seventy-five can be accommodated at one time—can swim, boat, fish, climb, for the hills above afford alluring delights for 'hikes,' and in their quieter hours their skill at basketry, clay modeling and the other decorative arts under the supervision of competent instructors, and as the shadows lengthen, gather around the camp fire and listen to tales of a professional story teller, or dance in the big khaki tent pavilion. Nor is this to be an Adamless Eden, for 'every girl looks forward to her little summer flirtation and she is entitled to it.' Indeed, Miss Morgan, Saturdays and Sundays have, therefore, been set aside as 'beau' days, and on one Saturday night there will be a dance and on the succeeding one a real camp fire.

"And there are roseate dreams of a future when the pavilion can be kept open the year round, so that the girls may slip away from the city over week ends, and when there will be other camps dotted around the lake, not only for girls, but for men, so that there may be a healthy interchange of good fellowship."

It is just like Anne Morgan to be so human that she inaugurates "beau days," for many a glad romance may begin in the heart of the Adirondacks, and many a happy hour may be established in New York because of Miss Morgan's loving efforts to help other girls.

PHOEBE A HEARST. FRIEND OF GIRLHOOD.

Another woman whose life has expressed a labor of love for girls is Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, and the half of her story of work for girls has never been told. It seems to have chapters opening, for each year adds to the story.

On Wednesday Mrs. Hearst entertained at a wonderful outdoor fete for nearly 200 girls of the Lux School of Industrial Training. A special train was engaged for the girls, and at Merona they were met with automobiles and coaches and brought to the Hacienda. The finest barbecues in all the state are given at the Hacienda, preparations being begun many hours before the guests assemble.

A big tent was erected on the grounds of the Hacienda, in which the barbecue luncheon was served. These are glorious days at the Hacienda with acres of flowers in bloom, and the views of old Diablo and the Contra Costa hills are wonderfully lovely in these summer days. After the luncheon programs at the Hacienda are always in the hands of

MADAME MIRZA ALI KULI KHAN AND HER TWO LITTLE DAUGHTERS, MISS PHOEBE FLORENCE CALIFORNIA KHANOM (LEFT) AND MISS ALICE MARY MARZIEH KHANOM (RIGHT).

Arthur Murray, Judge and Mrs. Morrow, General and Mrs. Arthur Murray and Mrs. John Merrill.

Beautiful American flags were draped at the north end of the room, under which the receiving party stood, and lovely American Beauty roses were the flowers used in decoration.

Mrs. Lowenberg is always a most charming and very generous hostess, and she knows how to give a personal touch to her welcome to each guest that is full of charm.

Mrs. Lowenberg's costume was specially handsome, of black satin, with an over drape of very rare Chantilly lace.

Mrs. Abraham Lincoln Brown is very like her talented mother in ease of manner and in a dignified courtesy to guests that always means rare good breeding.

Mrs. Brown is a very handsome brunette, and she was beautifully gowned in old rose taffeta, embroidered in silver.

Mrs. Lamar is young and exceptionally charming, and her gown of brown was very becoming. The eastern guests of honor these days often keep on their hats, but it is not a custom to be commended when there is a receiving line. Women should, in the main, wear the same style of costume when there is a long receiving line.

Mrs. Frank Mott was also a very attractive member of the receiving party, and she was beautifully gowned in rose-pink taffeta, most elaborately trimmed in lace.

In the receiving party were many charming young girls, among them the Misses Harriet and Norma Mack of New York, who have made so many friends since coming to our state.

Miss Linda Bryan, whose engagement was so recently announced, was in the receiving party, as was also Mrs. Nannie Randolph Heth of Virginia. She is rapidly becoming one of the most popular hostesses at the Exposition. Many well-known people were in attendance at the Lowenberg reception, and among them were Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Frederick Sanborn and Mrs. Lovell White.

EAST BAY FOLK AT MAYOR'S SOIREE.

On Wednesday many Alameda county people were represented at Mrs. Rolph's reception, which was given at the Rolph home in the Mission. The decorations were most effectively planned. The great flagpole on the lawn carried a splendid American flag, and the "International Code," the long lines of foreign flags, added a great burst of color, as the flags fluttered in the breeze.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Rolph, Mrs. C. C. Moore, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Hearst, Mrs. Sanborn and Mrs. Pond.

Mrs. Rolph was gowned in pink satin, with an overdrift of lace, and Mrs. Hearst was in gray satin, beautifully trimmed in rare passementerie.

Mrs. Isaac Requa was in white broadcloth, with a hat in tones of black, and Mrs. Sanborn was in turquoise blue cut velvet.

Mrs. Lloyd, one of the honorary members from Alameda county, was at the reception, and many distinguished women from the United States and abroad were in attendance at the reception.

GOVERNOR'S DINNER BRILLIANT EVENT.

The dinner given in San Francisco on Thursday evening in honor of Governor and Mrs. Whitman was a brilliant affair, and was attended by many prominent persons. The toasts and speeches generally were specially bright, and the dinner was one of the most successful functions of the week given at the Exposition.

Among the guests at the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. James K. Moffitt, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Longstroth, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Clay, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Britton, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bowles and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bocqueraz.

JURY OF AWARDS INTERESTING BODY.

Among the most interesting of the committees across the bay is the "Jury of Awards," one of the most important also of the many Exposition committees. It is made up of prominent people all over the United States, and from Oakland comes one of its leading members, Miss Ethel Moore. Archbishop Hanna is also a member of "The Jury of Awards."

One of the members, who was recently Miss Ethel Moore's guest here, is Mrs. Norris, a very brilliant woman, who is one of New York's ablest lawyers.

Another very charming woman who was Miss Moore's guest last week was Miss Wilson, the daughter of Secretary Wilson of the President's cabinet. She is a very unspooled young woman, most sincere and unaffected, and one well versed in the great problems of the day. Miss Wilson is at the head of affairs in her father's household, as Secretary Wilson is a widower. She entertains in a splendid fashion, and she is, besides, her father's secretary. She is here in the interests of the Labor Exhibit at the Exposition. Miss Wilson is a great friend of Speaker Champ Clark and Mrs. Clark, both of whom are expected on this coast in the not very distant future.

Both Mrs. Norris and Miss Wilson were present at the magnificent pageant given by the school children last Saturday, at Trestle Glen.

It was altogether wonderful—the masque being splendidly effective.

Spring, impersonated by a lovely young girl, came dancing down the green, followed by all the little flowers, gay and happy. And the Spirits of Drought, all in brown, danced after spring and the flowers, and they lay apparently dead upon the green sward.

Then came the Spirits of the Rain. Drops and revived the flowers, and the Heavy Rains came in darker gray gowns, and finally the Spirits of Sunshine, all in yellow, danced across the green.

One of the most wonderful pictures ever presented on this side of the bay marked the closing scene of the masque. To the music of "Shine, Little Glow Worm, Glimmer," there came dancing from every quarter of the surrounding woods lovely children, dressed as flowers. On they came, dancing, till 2500 beautiful little children, in vari-colored costumes, were "dancing on the heath."

One would have gone many miles to see that in Europe, and would have paid a good price for it as well. It was a most picturesque scene, wonderful in its beauty, and all the Eastern visitors were promptly enthusiastic. There is a very general demand for its reproduction, when the schools open, so that the eastern strangers may be present in large numbers, and visitors from the other parts of the state as well.

ALAMEDA COUNTY DAY PROMISING EVENT.

Preparations are going busily forward for Alameda County Day, June 10, and the California Building will be a scene of great activity on that day. Every effort will be made to welcome the thousands who will find their way to the ballroom of the building on that day, and for this reason an unusually large committee has been chosen. All the women's organizations of the county have been requested to send delegates, and at least ten are expected from each of these organizations. There will be so much to do that many women will be needed on the committee, and the plans are so well formulated that the day is certain to be a success. Meanwhile other plans are started for bringing many guests to our side of the bay. They will be so well entertained that they will take a message from us to all parts of the globe. They will tell of our homes, of our wonderful city, of women who made them welcome, and who thus sent a happy message to every state in the Union and to every country in the world.

VISITING GUESTS SOCIETY'S PLEASURE.

Local social events are of more than the usual degree of interest, for many of them center around the visiting guest.

Miss Alice Palmer is entertaining Miss Gertrude Runyon of Sacramento county, whose home is on one of the most important ranches on the river.

Miss Runyon is a charming girl, who has many friends around the bay, and there are always many compliments for her when she comes to Oakland.

Miss Palmer is sending out cards for a bridge afternoon in the near future, and she will entertain for her guest at her home on Jackson street.

Miss Doris Bornemann entertained for Miss Runyon early in the week, and cards offered the diversion of the afternoon. Miss Bornemann is a very sweet young hostess, and she personally plans so many of her entertainments that they are very successful affairs.

Among the pretty costumes seen at Miss Bornemann's card afternoon were those worn by Mrs. William Fillmore, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. Joseph Hunt, Miss Anne Sprink, Miss Helen Coogan, Miss Alice Palmer, Miss Muriel Zahn, Miss Lilla Lovell and Miss Wright.

MRS. PENNOYER TO ENTERTAIN AT TEA.

An interesting tea for which Mrs. A. A. Pennoyer has sent out cards is scheduled for June 16, and the guests of honor will be Miss Corona Williams and Miss Isabelle Beaver. Mrs. Pennoyer will receive her friends in her Berkeley home, one of the most attractive in the college town. The Pennoyer home was formerly on Alice street, in this city, and Mrs. Pennoyer has always kept up many of the old friendships she made when her home was in our city. The Pennoyers have lived much abroad, and Mrs. Pennoyer spent some interesting years in Paris. She is a fine linguist, and she has besides a great deal of literary ability. The tea is in honor of the two bright and charming girls, Miss Williams and Miss Beaver, and will be one of the important events of the early summer.

JUNE WEDDINGS FULFILL PROMISE.

The June weddings are fulfilling their promise of interest, since so many of the brides—and the grooms, as well—come from prominent families.

One of the most important weddings of the summer was that of Robert Sharon and pretty Miss Hazel Ingels, which took place on Tuesday evening at the bride's home on Oak street.

The Ingels family is one well known throughout the state, having large farming interests.

The bride is an only daughter of the family, and a sweet, unaffected girl.

The Sharons are among the oldest of our Oakland families, and the large home on the Piedmont hills has meant much in the development of Oakland. There has been much entertainment there always, but it has stood also for much more—music and art have found friends there, and charities and philanthropies have never knocked at the door in vain.

Each member of the Sharon family has devoted time to study, and they are all gifted in some way, so that the family life is delightful.

Robert Sharon went to Exeter in his college preparatory days, and spent four years in Yale, from which he was graduated three years ago.

The wedding decorations were exceedingly effective, because as befitting a June wedding all the decorations were of roses. The great clusters of Dorothy Perkins roses make extremely bright decorations. The wedding bower in the large bay window, made of roses, was most picturesque, and standing under it, the bride and her attendants made a most fascinating study.

Perhaps it is only the young girl of today who can wear the early Victorian style, and the young girls at the Sharon-Ingels wedding were altogether charming. Miss Ruth Sharon was in pink—the pretty flowered gown, so suggestive of lovely roses, was made in the mid-Victorian fashion, as were the gowns of the other attendants. Green and silver is always very effective, and the color happened to be very becoming to the four bridesmaids—the Misses Esther Sharon, Helen Coogan, Helen Downey and Carmen Ghirardelli.

The wedding presents were exceedingly handsome, and they will serve to make the new home of the Robert Sharons most attractive. The gift of the Sharons to their son and his bride, was the land for their new home at Piedmont. All the Sharon land lies in Mountain avenue, in the hills overlooking Oakland and the bay, and it is said that there are no finer scenic views anywhere in the world. The new home of the Robert Sharons will be commenced in a few days.

Among the many present at the wedding of Mr. Sharon and Miss Ingels on Tuesday evening were: Mr. and Mrs. William Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. Ingels, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Musick of Fresno, Mrs. Lawrence Ingels of Riverside, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farr, Lloyd Hardie of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Coogan, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watson Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. William Fillmore, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hogan Jr., Miss Ogden.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharon have not confided to their friends the destination of their wedding trip. On their return, they will remain at the Ingels home until their own residence in Piedmont is completed.

INVITATIONS ISSUED FOR CHURCH WEDDING.

Cards were sent out this week, in which Mr. and Mrs. Otis Mitchell Tupper request the presence of their friends at the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Mr. Mark Wilbur Anthony, on Tuesday afternoon, the twenty-second of June, at four o'clock, St. Paul's Episcopal church. Miss Tupper will make a very stunning bride, for she is tall and stately, with beautiful coloring. She is very graceful as well, and it is a matter of social history, how beautifully she gave the Merry Widow dances, in our famous "Kermesse."

Among Miss Tupper's many relatives are Judge and Mrs. Charles Snook, Wade Snook, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snook, Miss Mildred Snook, Mr. and Mrs. James Snook of San Francisco, and Mrs. John B. Gulle (Susie Snook), of New York City.

Mark Anthony is a young man who has already made a very marked business success. He received his preparatory training in the Horton school, and he is a graduate of the University of California.

Miss Tupper has chosen as her matron of honor, Mrs. Curtis Hayden, who was formerly Miss Mary Selby of San Francisco, and her bridesmaids are to be the Misses Lilla Lovell, Helen Snook, and Georgia Catts of Stockton.

The new home which Mr. Anthony is planning for his bride, is now in process of construction at Thousand Oaks.

THIS MARRIAGE WAS OF INTEREST TO MANY.

On Tuesday evening a very interesting wedding was celebrated across the bay—that of Rolla Bishop Watt and Miss Paula Leichter. Rolla Watt spent four years at the University of California, of which he is a graduate, and he has many intimate friends on this side of the bay who were his college mates.

Mr. Watt also graduated a few days ago from the Hastings College of the Law, and he has been admitted with the other members of his class to the bar. His father is one of the best known lawyers across the bay, and his uncle is Rolla V. Watt, prominent in insurance circles, and in philanthropic activities.

The Leichters are well known throughout the State, and they have a very beautiful home in Vallejo street overlooking the bay. The bride is petite, very pretty indeed, with lovely blonde coloring, and she is very charming.

The wedding of Mr. Watt and Miss Leichter took place at seven o'clock, at the home of the bride. After the ceremony an elaborate wedding banquet was served, and later there was dancing, making the wedding a very delightful and happy affair.

Mr. Watt, who is the first member of his class to be married is receiving the congratulations of many friends. The Rolla Watts will establish their home in San Francisco, where Mr. Watt will begin the practice of law.

HOME SETTING FOR DEBUTANTE'S WEDDING.

Another bride of the summer will be pretty Miss Marian Rodolph, whose wedding to James McCandless of Honolulu is to have a home setting. Miss Rodolph was one of the most attractive of the debutantes of a year ago. Her coming-out reception at the Claremont Club was one of the most important of the season. She is a beautiful girl, who has an exceptionally fine education, and who has traveled a great deal.

The McCandless family is well known in the Islands, where the various members of the family have developed large business interests. Mr. McCandless has done good work in an Eastern college, and he has before him every prospect of a fine business career.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Madame Mirza Ali Kuli Khan, who with her husband, Persian charge d'affaires in Washington, is spending the summer in Piedmont, is a charming and interesting woman. She is an American and was a belle of Boston society before her marriage. Her children have the distinctive beauty of two races, and the two little daughters, Alice Mary Marzieh, and Phoebe Florence California who was born five years ago in California, are especially attractive. Madame Khan's title is Moravah-es-Sultanan.

MISS MOORE'S DANCE DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR.

Miss Margaret Moore's dance for Miss Ethel Palmer was a delightful affair, and was given at the Moore home in East Oakland. Miss Palmer has had many compliments from her young girl friends, who regret that her future home is to be in the east. The wedding of Miss Palmer and Dr. Gibson will take place June 9 in St. Paul's Episcopal church.

THE WISDOM OF MR. MANN.

Representative James R. Mann's address before the Commercial Club yesterday was full of pith and pointed talk. He did not speak long but what he said was forceful and pertinent. Mr. Mann is an experienced, widely known public official of high character. He is not a pretentious man and probably more accurately than anyone else in public life today represents the views and sentiments of what may be called "the average citizen."

He expressed the thought of the vast majority of his fellow countrymen when he said with much directness and vigor, "I do not think that any man in office in this country today could have the power to drive us into a useless war, and war with any European country would be useless." Mr. Mann believes heartily in ample preparations for national defense. He is plainly of the opinion that an adequate army and navy is to be regarded as something of a guarantee against war.

"I regret the European war," said Mr. Mann, "and sincerely wish that it could be stopped. But I am firmly convinced that while they are fighting, this country ought to make use of the opportunity to take the commerce of the world away from them." Then Mr. Mann did a very timely and sensible thing by pointing out with emphasis and clarity the essential fact that in these days of big enterprises, foreign markets cannot be captured in a large, important and enduring way by individuals or by small companies. If the United States is to gain a large share of the world's markets and to replace in them, with her products, the goods of her great European commercial rivals, she must make proper preparation and proceed about the business with common sense and high intelligence.

Foreign business, particularly for Americans who are little experienced in it, is a hazardous undertaking, and often attended in the beginning by very considerable losses. The individual shipper or the small corporation is not prepared to meet such losses. Therefore we must look to combinations of capital, to highly organized corporations to perform this service for the United States. As Mr. Mann well said, "It will take great genius, great capital, great development and power to do this. We should invite our men and our money to combine to extend our markets, instead of threatening them with the possibility, whether they are successful or whether they are losers. For many years we have been endeavoring to throttle capital in our country but if we are wise today we will encourage it, to the end that it may put our produce in all the markets of the world."

We commend these observations to the serious consideration of our readers. They are sound and worthy and wise. If this country is to be set upon the highway to prosperity, the advice which Mr. Mann renders will in the end have to be followed and the sooner we begin to give heed to it the greater will be our wisdom and the larger and more substantial our profits.

TOO MANY COOKS.

If there be one place more than another where the services of an efficient manager would count, that place is the capital of our beloved country. It seems an instinctive motive on the part of governmental departments and bureaus to extend their jurisdiction and augment their operations, and this has been done so variously and to such extent, that now in many cases a half dozen organizations are doing practically the same thing.

Current reports from several governmental bureaus illustrates the point. "The Children's Bureau" of the United States Department of Labor, in a bulletin issued June 1, has specific instructions relative to the care of babies in summer. It goes into particulars, illustrating the values, and contrariwise, "of bottle feeding" and other rather elementary information. All of which, no doubt, is very interesting to those interested in that sort of thing. But there is another bureau of the same department having some function connected with public health and it, too, under date of June 6th, has issued a bulletin on the care of babies, setting forth the necessity for bathing, the type of towels to be used, the values of soda bath, bran bath, starch bath, etc., etc.

Then the Bureau of Census in the Department of Commerce puts its ear in under date of May 28th along the same line. Its instructions are quite specific under the head of "Dangerous Diseases of Childhood." Whooping cough, measles, diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc., etc. are duly and gravely discussed in this bulletin.

But this is not all. There is somewhere associated with the army or navy a bureau which styles itself "The United States Public Health Service" and this bureau, not to be distanced in the race, is out on June 1st with a paper on "Health Hints," dealing quite minutely with many matters which readers of The Tribune are too young to hear discussed openly.

It would seem that this is a case where many cooks may make a mess of things. At least it is a case where a vast amount of money is expended in quite useless duplication of a perfunctory service.

Degrees of success in the past, both in this country and in Europe. Most profit making schemes have not been successful. But Ford seems to see that he has one suggestion to make in connection with it. If his revenues are increasing so rapidly as is commonly supposed and the company is really earning more money than it ought to earn, why should it not be given some of the benefit of its great prosperity and profits? It seems to us that Mr. Ford might very well use the proceeds of his cars a little more for their betterment. He might easily improve them in appearance and add something to their safety and comfort. It is always well to share profits with the workmen and to see that their interests are properly considered by the public ought to have some claims for consideration as well. Mr. Ford would be conferring a benefit upon a great many thousands of his fellow countrymen if he were to put an additional twenty-five dollars' worth of material, labor and good taste into the manufacture of his motor cars.

THE PUBLIC PURSE.

Despite the income tax, the war tax and all the rest of it, the finances of the government are in a bad way. It is estimated by a competent authority at Washington that the total revenues from all sources for the present fiscal year will fall short of the needs of the government, as defined by department estimates, by at least $30,000,000. The discrepancy may run into even larger figures.

The total estimated revenues, as set forth by the secretary of the treasury, is $7,200,000,000. Reduced by a shortage of $300,000,000 in actual receipts, to $6,900,000,000, there would be a corresponding shortage of $12,000,000,000 under the estimated expenditure of $710,000,000,000. The customs revenues promises to reach $210,000,000, or $130,000,000 under the estimate of $250,000,000 made by the department of the treasury. There was a shortage of $20,000,000 in the collection of ordinary internal revenues apparent at the date of the last report, even allowing that the now shrinking ordinary internal revenue receipts for the three months to follow will be proportionate to collections for the whole preceding period, they could aggregate about $25,000,000, or still a $20,000,000 short of the original estimate of $250,000,000. The war emergency tax, according to predictions of administrators, will come up to the official estimate of $44,000,000; the present receipts, however, will have to be largely increased from the $15,000,000 receipts from the sale of bonds, which there is an added tax under the war estate tax—paid from the payments on special bonds to be made before July 1.

There are various estimates as to what may come, in under the income tax, the fact being recognized that it comes during the past year have notably declined as compared with the previous year. The shortage will arise chiefly in that part of the taxes apportioned to corporations—railroads and the like—which, broadly speaking, did not do a profitable business last year. For the year previous the total income tax, personal and real, approximated $80,000,000. It will not be so large this year.

Probably the administration will not wish to resort to new methods of taxation. The money needed will preferably be arranged for in other ways. None the less, there is more or less talk about the necessity of a special session of Congress in October. Following are the balances in the general funds in the United States treasury at the close of business June 30, during the past nine years:

1914	$161,612,615.55
1913	152,198,874.75
1912	187,132,473.99
1911	140,176,926.13
1910	196,894,675.67
1909	126,375,423.10
1908	248,171,347.73
1907	272,961,445.47
1906	180,888,254.82

An official statement from the headquarters of the "Congressional Union for Women Suffrage" at Washington makes it plain that a policy of persistent heckling of the President is to be maintained. Referring to the fact that President Wilson when in New York recently declined to receive a delegation of women suffragists, this statement has gone forth:

As the leader of the majority party in Congress President Wilson more than any one man in the whole country has it in his power to advance or hinder the progress of the suffrage amendment in the next Congress. It would have been the greatest mistake in the world for the New York women to allow any Presidential come to their city without learning of their strong desire for political freedom.

If the President was allowed to go from state to state without hearing a word of woman suffrage, how could he know that it was one of the most widely and earnestly supported measures in the political field today? It would have been the greatest mistake in the world for the New York women to allow any Presidential come to their city without learning of their strong desire for political freedom.

This would appear to be an opening gun in something very much like a militant campaign. There is no hope of influencing the President; his ideas are known and his plans are fixed. What is proposed is to annoy him—to heckle him, in the English phrase. The one value of such a campaign, if it have any value at all, would be to arouse partisan enthusiasm. Whether or not in the immediate instance it will help the cause, time only will tell. This campaign of irritation has not the approval of all the suffragist leaders. In open opposition to it stands Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who holds it to be both impolitic and unbecoming to employ methods obviously designed for annoyance.

Mr. Copeland, whose note is printed on another page, does not too severely characterize the blunder of President Wilson in driving Huerta from Mexico last year. Of course, it cannot be known what Huerta would have done if he had been given a free hand. But it is the opinion of those who know Mexico best that he is the one man who might have brought order to the country. At any rate, the President had no right to set himself up as judge and jury, to convict Huerta out of hand for the killing of Madero, and to employ both the moral and material powers of this country in his destruction. Possibly, probably, Huerta could have brought order, if not content, to Mexico and it was President Wilson who denied him the chance to do it. The President holds, therefore, a grave responsibility for what has followed Huerta's failure and expulsion. Apparently, he now sees it. But unhappily this does not undo the mischiefs which have resulted from a grave mistake.

If we may believe a current report the Coroner's is not the only county office which now and again takes it upon itself to suppress its public records. Oftentimes the matters kept from the public are trivial and the motive not unworthy. But the practice is none the less a violation of the public's right to know. There is no straight course in such matters and that is to follow the law, both in its spirit and in its letter. Nothing properly a matter of public record should be held up or held out. When this is allowed abuses are certain to creep in.

A Terrible Flasco
 Oakland, June 4, 1915.
 To the Editor: The failure of President Wilson to recognize Huerta as the de facto president of Mexico is one of the colossal blunders of the administration. The fact as Wilson claimed, that Huerta was responsible for the murder of his predecessor, was no proper excuse for refusing diplomatic relations with Mexico and has resulted in the loss of many American lives and the expenditure of some $30,000,000 of our money at Vera Cruz and elsewhere. It will take a whole lot of good intentions to atone for this unfortunate mistake.

Nerves and Noise
 Oakland, Cal., June 2, 1915.
 To the Editor: May I call your attention to the need of an Anti-Noise League in this fair city, Oakland? It is not enough, I say, for us to count this a necessary noise—but in addition to these things, must we have the "cut-outs" on the early Sunday morning newscast. There is a city ordinance that all cars shall keep their engines muffled on the city streets, and it is not enough, I say, for us to count this a necessary noise—but in addition to these things, must we have the "cut-outs" on the early Sunday morning newscast.

WHAT IS DOING TODAY

Twenty Years Ago Today
 The Seventh Day Adventists are expected to hold their annual conference at the Hotel Park. Daily sessions of the conference are being held and a vast deal of work looking to the advancement of the faith is being accomplished. The Sunday closing proposition and its relation to the mixing of religion and politics was the subject for discussion. The officers for the next term are as follows: N. C. McClure, M. C. Wilson, M. G. Brown, R. S. Owen, W. C. Gainger, J. A. Burden, conference secretary, H. F. Coulter.

Ballad of the King's Triumph
 Dana Burnett, in New York Evening Sun.
 "Call me my minstrel," said the king,
 "And let him sing a song to me."
 For I have won this summer day
 A mighty victory.

Between the tides of dawn and dusk
 Upon a field I stood
 And saw my gallant sword drink deep
 Of body and of blood.

So did my merry minstrel in
 With lute and silver tongue,
 And let him take my stained sword
 And sheathe it in a song!

The minstrel came, an ancient man,
 And smote a silver string,
 "Oh, gallant is the victory
 And mighty is the king!"

At dawn he rode with all his knights
 Into a virgin field,
 At dusk the blood of honest men
 Was stained upon his shield.

And in the houses of his foes
 A thousand leagues away,
 The hearts of women blid and broke
 Upon a summer's day.

What song is this? the monarch cried,
 "What sorrow dost thou sing?"
 "Why, only of the victory
 That crowned my lord the king."

The minstrel smiled a fleeting smile,
 And smote a splendid chord,
 "Oh, gallant is the use of arms
 And mighty is the sword!"

For on this day a greenling field
 Was won at crimson cost;
 And what the gods of war have gained
 The loves of men have lost.

And many a heart of friend and foe
 Has broken on this day,
 And children starve and women weep,
 A thousand leagues away.

Then cry the triumph to the stars
 And let the heavens ring;
 For gallant is the victory
 And mighty is the king!"

BASE BALL
By Billy Fitz

Lou Litschi's peculiar batting slump is taken much to heart by the entire Oakland club, which in a measure feels itself responsible for the plight of the little Swiss. During the spring training period the entire club got after Litschi because of his well-known tendency to hit continually to left field in the same spot. This characteristic was so well known that opposing left fielders used to lay for Litschi and rob him repeatedly of legitimate hits.

Louis listened to the pleadings of his teammates and tried valiantly to hit to right field and center, with the result that he couldn't hit at all. "For this time," he begged the Oaks, "forget what we said and hit 'em any old place, Louis."

Louis tried to get back into his old stride, but he was worse than ever. The only place he could hit at all was into the left field corner, and even lower. The whole club is trying to help him out, but Louis is in a blue funk when he comes to the bat. Some hypnotist or psychologist might be able to help Litschi, but so far none has come forward. Litschi used to hit .350 and even .450 for weeks at a time, and the Oaks are looking for him to come to life soon, get his eye on the ball and electricity the circuit.

Tyler Christian will be back on the job Tuesday ready to direct the Oaks in their campaign against the Seals. Had the Oaks displayed any remarkable reversals of fortune this week, Tyler's return to harness might have been postponed, but as it is, the gray-headed Oakland pitcher will return to his post and endeavor to trim his ancient enemies. The Oaks are today but half a game away from the cellar, and by the time the Seals and Angels are playing comfortably in the quarters they have occupied for two seasons.

The story that "Red" Kuhn is to manage the Oakland club is on a par with all the other rumors that have been published. One paper even went so far as to quote the Auburn topped catcher as saying that he was slated for the management. Naturally, such a story would cause the whole team to be in a blue funk. The Oakland club managers that he ever did have such a notion in his head, the sooner he got it out of him the better. The story worried Kuhn as much as it did anyone, and was responsible for his going to the Seals. Kuhn's slump players began to ride the Oaks. Dicky Bayless of Venice used to holler from the bench: "Oh, Red, you're not going to be manager, are you? What do you think of Christian? Don't like him, do you?" etc. Naturally, Red got so fussed up that he couldn't have thrown out a hippopotamus. That's why Dicky said it, but it is difficult to understand why scribbles to embarrass the Oakland club unnecessarily.

Bill Rodgers is now a member of the Boston Red Sox. Red Sox pitcher, who made his debut in the box for the Seals yesterday pitched a good game but, oh, he was lucky! The support given him was simply incredible. In the first inning he played a greater game in their lives, either defensively or offensively. They looked like major leaguers, every one. Their hitting was vicious in the extreme.

Los Angeles and San Francisco will play off a postponed game next Monday at San Francisco.

The death of Tim Hurst, noted umpire and baseball wit, occurred yesterday in Minneapolis. He was a well-known character from the baseball world a lovable character. Death was caused by acute indigestion.

The death was one of the best known sporting characters in the country. He entered baseball in one of the cities of the Southern League thirty-three years ago. It was said when he was a spectator at a game which was to decide the pennant. The regular umpire cut under fire and Hurst volunteered to take his place. The final inning he called a home player out at the plate, with what would have been the tying run, at the same time making a passing play and a throw toward him. Later he was appointed umpire in the National League.

Hurst was known as a wit and for his readiness to protect himself against attack. In his younger days he was an all-around athlete and a star sprinter. Recently he was engaged in the real estate business in Far Rockaway, N. Y.

"One or two left-handed twirlers on a baseball club will serve its purpose all right," said Cap. Dillon, the manager of the Angels. "But three good right-handers are a nuisance. On last Wednesday Jack Ryan held the Salt Lake batters down to seven hits and three runs. On the Tuesday I had pitched Poli Peritt, and then all my right-handers were used."

White Sox pitcher, who was a top-notch pitcher and was picked out by three top-notch batters, was used. "I am after two good right-handers and will be forced to trade or release one of my extra left-handers. It won't be Scoggin, while Love and Burns have been pitching good ball, but I can't carry three left-handers. I may report and he may not," said Cap. "But I don't care for I have options on two other pitchers, both right-handers. I can't think of a moment's notice."

Eddie Herr, the St. Louis Cardinal scout, is greatly impressed with Swede Risberg, the Venice all-around member.

Chicago has the first crack at Swede, and for that matter at every other player on the Venice roster, but should the Sox need him, Herr will probably recommend him to the Cardinal club, that is if he continues to play the way he has been.

A good shortstop is what Herr is after, however. Roy Corhan and Zeb Terry are the machines whom Herr has his eye on. Herr regards Zeb as a wonder, but he is also sweet on Roy. All Roy has on Zeb is experience, but Zeb's youthfulness about even matters. One or the other will go up to the majors.

Cap Dillon is not the only personage who is going to swear off no more than one or two southpaws. Lush, Evans and Krause are southpaw members of the Seaver pitching staff, and the release of Kahler, a right-hander, by Cleveland to Portland may mean the "canning" of one of the above. The announcement that Harry Krause will be the one to be let go is expected any time now. "Two porters is enough," says Mac.

Manager Pat Donovan of the New York Tanks has three Rays on his pitching staff and the trio have been doing great ball. Ray Caldwell, Ray Geating and Ray Fisher comprise the trio. Caldwell was a lad with very bad habits last year but has reformed and is pitching wonderful ball. Also, Jack Warhop is going great guns.

Tomorrow morning at 10:10 the Angels and Seals meet on the Oakland diamond, and the Seals are playing superb ball and will undoubtedly draw a tremendous crowd.

Seals Take Third
Straight Off Angels

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Los Angeles was shut out by San Francisco, the locals piling up six runs and making it three straight from the Angels. Justin Kuhn, the first baseman, pitched for the Seals and hit it out of the lot. Dent, the new pitcher, was on the slab while Scoggin was touched up for fifteen.

Los Angeles: Pitcher, Scoggin, 2.00; Infielders, 2.00; Outfielders, 2.00; Catcher, 2.00; Manager, 2.00. San Francisco: Pitcher, Dent, 2.00; Infielders, 2.00; Outfielders, 2.00; Catcher, 2.00; Manager, 2.00.

Runs—Fitzgerald, 2; Seals, 6; Angels, 0. Hits—Fitzgerald, 2; Seals, 6; Angels, 0. Errors—Fitzgerald, 2; Seals, 6; Angels, 0. Total bases—Fitzgerald, 2; Seals, 6; Angels, 0.

'Bull' Perine, the Umpire,
Is Released by Death
Famous Arbiter of the Diamond
Dies in State Hospital

Simultaneously with the announcement of the death of Tim Hurst, comes the news locally of the passing away last night at the Napa State Hospital of another famous umpire, Fred "Bull" Perine, of Oakland, whose stentorian voice and odd mannerisms endeared him to the baseball fans of the coast league and the major American circuit.

Perine passed away last night as the result of a lingering illness brought on by a sunstroke, with which he was smitten while umpiring a game one hot summer day in New York City in 1912. Despite the fact that Ben Johnson paid all his expenses at various health resorts, the umpire never recovered, his condition becoming so bad that he had to abandon all hope of returning to the game he loved.

This preyed upon his mind, so that eventually he was committed to the state sanitarium at Napa, where the end came last night.

Perine's home was in this city, where he had many friends and admirers. It was in 1904 that he broke into the Pacific Coast League after a short while in the State League. His rise to popularity was speedy, and in 1908 he was promoted to the major leagues, where he was regarded as a very efficient and capable arbiter. His stentorian voice, jovial disposition and stentorian voice earned him the nickname of "Bull." No arrangements have been made as yet for the funeral.

Bob Wallace in Majors
For Twenty-One Years
St. Louis Veteran Was Living Example of the Golden Rule

ST. LOUIS, June 4.—Play the game, safe; play it on the level, be fair and square to all your friends, your employer, your associates, but above all, to yourself. If you do, you will eventually reach the top. This was the motto of Bob Wallace, who has stepped out of the big arena after 21 seasons of brilliant play, 21 years of friendship and a record that is unmarked. Bob Wallace, probably says the above words to his friends and associates. Wallace was the son of a farmer and a friend of the people. He was a good player, a good citizen, and a good man. He was a living example of the Golden Rule.

Wallace retired because he has played far past the prime of his life. He was a good player, a good citizen, and a good man. He was a living example of the Golden Rule. He was a living example of the Golden Rule.

There was nothing sneaky or underhanded about Bob Wallace. Even during the war he was a good player, a good citizen, and a good man. He was a living example of the Golden Rule.

Wallace carried the American League over to the National League and was a good player, a good citizen, and a good man. He was a living example of the Golden Rule.

UTILITY DEPOSIT
DECISION AWAITED

Case Closed and Submitted
Before President of State
R. R. Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Representatives of fifty California public utilities—telephone, water, gas and electric companies—spent the greater part of the day before President Max Thelen of the State Railroad Commission, justifying the practice of their companies in charging deposits from consumers for the installation of service connections and extensions. The hearing, initiated by the commission, closed with the submission of the case last yesterday. A decision will be rendered later.

Answering the arguments of Commissioner Thelen, the gas, water and electric companies agreed that they would be willing to discontinue their pre-service charges to guarantee payment of bills, another point of issue. In the case of consumers who are property owners, Representatives of the telephone companies declined to concede the waiver of this class of deposit.

All agreed that interest should be paid on deposits of consumers.

ALLEGIANCE TO U. S.
WILL BE ENFORCED

By Associated Press.
SANTA BARBARA, June 3.—Mental reservations or divided allegiances will not be tolerated by the United States in admitting applicants to citizenship. Superior Court Judge S. E. Crow announced to several former subjects of England, Germany and Italy seeking admission to citizenship.

Among the applicants was W. T. Warren, who has been exercising the rights of citizenship, serving on juries and voting as a Democrat, he alleged for thirty years. Warren, who was 23 years old when his father became a citizen in Maryland, supposed he was qualified as a citizen.

ONE HUNDRED TRIPS TO SANTA CRUZ BEACHES
FIVE HUNDRED TRIPS TO TAMALPAIS OR MUIR WOODS
FIVE THOUSAND EXPOSITION TRIPS

This is Saturday of "Hurry Up Week." The special prize award will be made in Monday's Tribune.

Three weeks from next Wednesday The Tribune Travel Contest will be a thing of the past. Are you doing today what you will wish you had done when this time comes? Will one of the fine vacation trips or the big Cadillac slip from your grasp by a small margin just because you were not improving your time in getting the POINTS necessary to win. Of course all who work will win a vacation trip, but some trips are far better than the rest, and the first grand prize is worth a dozen trips, so why not strive for the best.

One yearly subscription, new, is worth as much as ten new three-month orders and equals thirty old three-month payments on subscription. Do not lose any small subscriptions, but spend your best efforts on getting the large ones.

Read over the schedule of points below carefully:

How the Points Are Gained:

3 Months' Paid Old Subscription 100 Points
6 Months' Paid Old Subscription 200 Points
9 Months' Paid Old Subscription 300 Points
12 Months' Paid Old Subscription 400 Points
1 Yearly Paid Old Subscription 1000 Points
1 Yearly Paid New Subscription 3000 Points
6 Months' Paid New Sunday Only by mail 250 Points

The subscription price of the Oakland Tribune Daily and Sunday is 50c per month, delivered by carrier or by mail to any address. The price of the Sunday Tribune, sent by mail only, $1.00 for six months.

RULES AND CONDITIONS

1. In the event of a tie for any of the prizes offered the value of the prize will be equally divided.

2. The Tribune reserves the right to add to the number of prizes at any time during the contest.

3. No employee of The Oakland Tribune or immediate members of their families will be allowed to compete.

4. No candidate will be allowed to relinquish or to turn over to any other candidate any points whatsoever.

5. All subscriptions secured by contestants must be turned in to The Tribune within five days.

6. None of the non-competitive prizes will be given to any candidate until the number of points required for the trip has been turned in for record.

Address all inquiries to "Contest Editor" Oakland Tribune.

Starting on Monday the prizes will be pushed tomorrow and each Wednesday and Sunday thereafter until the close of the contest.

If so far you have done little toward gaining subscribers, you should become active at once so that we may have enough votes to your credit on the printed list to assure your friends that you are in earnest. Contestants realize that these are Bonanza days, and every new yearly subscription is a gold mine of POINTS.

WHY YOUR FRIENDS SHOULD HELP.

There is no reason why your friends should not help you with paid-in-advance subscriptions. In the first place it saves them from the annoyance of monthly calls from the collector. In the second place, by paying in advance they do no harm to the agent or to the carrier, who gets just the same profit as when he was individually given the money each week or month. You can readily see that this being the case it is an absolute advantage to the carriers and agents to have everyone subscribe in this way, for the more subscribers there are to The Oakland Tribune, the higher their profits run.

BEST OF ALL.

Best of all, the subscriber is able, at no extra cost to himself, to do a really kind and pleasant thing—something that will materially advance the cause of a friend. No one should imagine for a minute that the candidate will get along just as well without him. This is far from true. At the close it is possible for the POINTS to run so close that even one year's subscription may turn the scale between triumph and disappointment. In such a case every individual who gave a subscription may well feel that without the aid given by him personally his friend would have had to have been satisfied with a smaller prize.

WATCH FOR THE LIST TOMORROW.

Tomorrow you will see a fairly long list of candidates, but there are several things to note in this connection.

First, you will observe that there are a good many changes since the list was last published. Next, these changes will be made by paying in advance. There is much less opposition. The primary, as it were, is over and only those who have done anything worth while remain. Am you one of these fortunate candidates?

SEE IT THROUGH.

Having put your shoulder to the wheel, keep right on pushing. It will seem good to you now that opposition grows smaller.

The spirit the candidates are showing in this contest is just what we like to see. Everybody loves a cheerful candidate, and as there are more than enough vacation prizes to go around, all know that they will win; the only question is, which one is going to win the most vacations and have the lead for the big Cadillac on June 30? Keep that winning smile going all the time and tell all your friends that you will win and the extent of your winning depends upon them. They will catch your optimism. It's contagious, and they can't help giving you at least a small boost toward the big prize. What can be so attractive as a goal smile?

BUYERS OF LAND CRYING FRAUD

Farmers in Rivergarden Complain Quality of Soil Was Misrepresented.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 5.—Charles Seymour Whitman, Jr., the governor's baby, cried loudly in the governor's mansion here last night that his father, who is in San Francisco, heard him. The governor listened to his baby over the telephone. It required several minutes to induce the baby to utter a cry.

A hundred and fifty persons assembled at the mansion to talk with the governor. He is in the New York state building at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

It is charged that Seymour & Kendrick misrepresented the character of the land when they disposed of it for farming purposes.

The fair ranch, consisting of 10,000 acres, was after its subdivision known as the Rivergarden Ranch. The syndicate which did the subdividing spent a large sum in reclaiming portions of the land MUCH LAND SUBMERGED.

The complainants are small land owners, their holdings ranging from ten to thirty acres, with a valuation of $500 to $1,000. Their allegation is that the defendant corporations "fraudulently and falsely represented that enormous profits could be made on the Rivergarden Ranch, that the tracts were free from all alluvial and hardpan and that the Northern Electric railway intended to build a line through the fair ranch from Woodland to Knights Landing.

Charles H. Kendrick, president of the Stine & Kendrick Company, said last night:

"A syndicate of local capitalists purchased the James Fair ranch two years ago, paying $140 an acre. Engineers had just reclaimed the land and announced that it was free from flood danger. As agents we sold more than 100 purchasers. Soil experts pronounced the land excellent.

MAJORITY SATISFIED.

"Unfortunately, the last two winters were severe and seepage developed in some parts of the ranch. We spent $60,000 improving the drainage system. However, a great deal of dissatisfaction arose among buyers who had lost their season's crops.

"We agreed to extend their time for payment, to forego interest charges, transfer them to other parts of the land or give them other property in the state. Nearly all the owners were satisfied, but a few have started these suits.

"The Northwestern Electric did make a survey through the land, but temporarily abandoned its plans when it went into receivership."

RELIEF FROM ANTS
How to Cope Effectively With This Intolerable Nuisance.

If you are one of the thousands of women whose homes are overrun with ants, you will be interested to know that an absolute antidote for this plague has been discovered. After long experimenting, a Los Angeles banker, whose shop was infested with ants, prepared a paste which not only drove every ant out of his place in one day, but prevented their ever getting a foothold again.

So great a sensation was caused by this discovery that he was obliged to put up the paste for general use, and a large factory is now required to keep pace with the demand.

This little remedy is known as Kool-Jog's Ant Paste and can be obtained at all modern druggists. Try it today and you will always keep it in the house.—Advertisement.

U. S. WILL APPEAL STEEL CO. DECISION

Attorney-General So States. Administration Behind Movement.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Formal announcement of the government's intention to appeal to the Supreme Court from the decision of the Federal District Court at Trenton, N. J., dismissing the suit for dissolution of the United States Steel Corporation, was made last night by Attorney-General Gregory. The following statement was issued by Mr. Gregory, without comment:

"While the case against the United States Steel Corporation was instituted by the previous administration, I am in complete accord with the view of the law on which it is based. Of course, it will be taken to the Supreme Court. The full force of the district court's decision was laid before the attorney general today just before he started for the White House to attend a cabinet meeting.

It was said to be the unanimous opinion of administration officials that an appeal should be taken. The suit is considered one of the most important proceedings ever brought under the Sherman anti-trust law.

It is regarded as involving many of the questions at issue in the International Harvester Company case, which was decided in favor of the government in the lower court and is now before the Supreme Court.

The committee was in session all afternoon and the advisability of dissolving the Progressive party in the state by a vote of the committee, was discussed. Chairman Toner proposed a resolution that the party disband, urging that the Progressive movement could be carried forward in the Republican party. The resolution was rejected, however.

NOT THE BANDMASTER

John P. Sousa is in the Alameda county jail, where he was sentenced by Superior Judge Harris to serve five days for contempt of court upon failure to pay his wife, Gene L. Sousa, alimony as per order in effect with an interlocutory decree of divorce obtained last March. Investigation determined, however, that the prisoner is not the well-known bandmaster.

BILL TO CREATE U. S. RESERVISTS

Senator Cummins Outlines the Measure to Be Introduced in Congress.

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 5.—Senator Bert B. Cummins of Iowa announced today that he has prepared and will introduce in the next Congress a bill aimed to create and train a force of reservists who would be ready to defend the United States in case of unforeseen emergency.

The bill as outlined by Senator Cummins, would empower the government to turn over to the interior lands and harbors, and to a larger naval military strategic value into schools. To these schools would be appointed boys in the same manner as the are appointed to Annapolis and West Point. They would receive military training that would enable them to take over ships in the reserve or build.

The schools would turn graduates back into private life instead of into the army, but these men, although not professional soldiers, would be trained to a high degree of military efficiency. It is necessary force the government to call on them. Senator Cummins said he was in favor of federal pay for the National Guards.

"The European war," the Senator said, "has demonstrated that for national defense three things are necessary—a fleet in both oceans sufficiently strong to prevent the landing within a reasonable time of an invading force; coast fortifications sufficiently strong to guard the strategic points and, most important of all, a force of reserves."
